

DISCLAIMER:

By recalling the information published on our website, you agree to have understood the following conditions and therefore accept them without any reservations.

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

We do not assume any liability for consequences of actions or default which are wholly or partially based on the use of the software-programs provided by this website. This does particularly apply to damages which may be caused by the use of the software-programs that are made publicly accessible on our website. We are not to be made legally liable in any cause whatsoever.

CAVEAT EMPTOR

The software-programs available on our website are only provided for personal and informational purposes. We reserve the rights to change them at any time and without prior notice.

We do not provide any guarantees regarding the correctness, completeness and currentness of the software-programs provided by us. There is no obligation on our side to mark information that is no longer prevailing.

DATA PRIVACY STATEMENT

We take all required measures to guarantee data privacy. The data will only be used for appropriated purposes. Data, that are entered in forms on our website or sent to us via e-mail, are dispatched without encryption on the public internet. Therefore, they might also be accessible for third parties. Thus, data worth protecting must be conveyed telephonically or personally.

COMPLIANCE WITH THE EXPORT REGULATIONS

By using our software you are binding yourself legally to not contradict export regulations. You pledge to not transfer or export the software to a country to which export is prohibited according to the export regulations of the United States of America at given time and/or export laws and other export regulations of other states. If the software is liable to export control respecting the export laws and export regulations already mentioned, you pledge that you are neither citizen of an embargoed country nor resident in such a state like Iran, North Korea, Cuba, Syria or Sudan. This enumeration is only exemplary. You commit to us to inform yourself about possible export restrictions of the country you are a citizen of or which you are resident in and to accept them.

Moreover, you assure us that you are not prohibited to receive our software respecting the export laws and export schemes mentioned above.

The rights regarding the use our software are only given to you with the condition subsequent that you forfeit these rights if you do not act according to the binding export regulations of your residence or homeland.

JURISDICTION CLAUSE

By using our software you acknowledge the agreement of Munich/Germany as the only place of jurisdiction.